

BRENT CROSS SHOPPING CENTRE

REINFORCED BITUMEN MEMBRANE WATERPROOFING

Built on the site of the old Hendon Greyhound Stadium, Brent Cross Shopping Centre was constructed in 1976, becoming the first large scale indoor mall to be built in the UK. Its' late night shopping, clean environment, top brand stores and extensive parking soon earned Brent Cross the name of "North London's West End".

The 50,000m² roof needed refurbishing in 1997 and the Bauder Total Roof System was installed to provide a durable waterproofing solution. The area encompassed 75 shops that were to remain open until 8.00pm, providing for the first time ever the benefit of late night shopping. The project became a huge success and with continual investment has remained so to this day.
