

BAUDER ROOF SETS STANDARDS AT STRADA

STRADA, EDINBURGH

The Strada is a tree lined amalgamation of duplexes, penthouses and townhouses. Situated in Edinburgh it provides the ideal base for travel with main road routes and Edinburgh airport close by. For relaxation at the weekend there are the cosmopolitan shopping precincts of Edinburgh and the historical botanical gardens.

The new complex required a roofing system that would be cost effective and fast track. Thermofol is a polyester reinforced membrane which provides a strong and versatile solution that is ideal for any mechanically fastened or adhered roofing projects, making it perfect for incorporation over the Strada's metal deck. The products have high tensile strength and are reinforced with a pre coated polyester cross weave to make them resistant to tears and punctures ensuring durability. The Strada can now boast one of the most modern roofing solutions that will remain reliable for the duration of the building's life.
